Online webinar Microsoft Teams

Darling Downs and West Moreton PHN has collaborated with Australia's telehealth clinical research centre, The University of Queensland's Centre for Online Health (UQ-COH) <https://coh.centre.uq.edu.au/>, to present a practical webinar tailored for aged care and primary healthcare staff. This exclusive 1-hour webinar offers a unique opportunity to gain profound insights into the vast potential of telehealth in an aged care setting.

Key highlights of the webinar include:

- Understanding the benefits of telehealth in aged care, residential aged care homes (RACHs), geriatrics, and how it can revolutionise healthcare delivery.
- Identifying and address the challenges that may arise during telehealth implementation, along with expert-driven strategies to overcome them.
- Exploring best practices and techniques for tailoring virtual consultations specifically for older adults, ensuring patient-centred care and improved outcomes.
- In-depth tips and considerations for RACH staff to seamlessly integrate telehealth services into their practices, maximising the impact on resident care.

Each webinar features an esteemed panel of four (4) leading experts in the field of telehealth and aged care, offering knowledge and expertise. Participants will have ample opportunity to engage with the panel, seeking advice, clarifications, and valuable insights through an interactive Q&A session.

Who should attend:

Primary care providers and residential aged care staff; anyone who is interested in learning more about telehealth in aged care settings.
