Introducing the Inca Shared Health Platform

Inca has designed the most unique view of a patient's health, transforming, and leading the way in shared digital healthcare in Australia.

A patient record in Inca consolidates information from their GP, including Diagnosis, Medication, Immunisation and Pathology, as well as Allied Health and Specialist reports and notes and Hospital data. There is also the ability to include information from Bluetooth devices (such as blood pressure and glucose monitors) that a patient uses at home within a patient record. This presents a true multidisciplinary view of the patient health history to those providing care.

With up-to-date access to patient information, Inca allows providers to give the best, and most informed care to patients, drive clinical efficiency and maximise patient engagement.

Features

See all patient data in a single place

Access the data you need to manage your patients, minus the complexity. Inca aggregates, maintains, and normalizes patient data from multiple sources, a single longitudinal patient record.

Keep patients and care teams on the same page

Provide patients and caregivers with easy access to their own record, empower and motivate your patients to improve and reach their health goals. Patients can log their progress and perform PREMS/PROMS on the go. Notify care teams and gather patient data with our user-friendly mobile app.

Identify care gaps faster

With access to a patients' care history, clinicians can create the right care approach for each patient more quickly, with information at their fingertips. This provides a more patient-centred approach to care and avoids inefficiencies and duplication of care.

Reveal actionable insights

Utilise data to uncover insights to maximize your performance. Robust dashboard and reporting functionalities provide you with the capability to view trends across your entire patient base.

How it works?

Inca's cloud and mobile solutions seamlessly integrates into any healthcare setting and creates a secure and simple access to viewing and sharing a patient's record. We have recently partnered with Halo, the Best Practice API making access to primary care information even easier.
